6:00PM Solid Gold '79

That would be "Solid Gold," the weekly hour-long show based on that big special from 1980. That show would run until 1988.

That block on the ABC stations, It's a Comedy Blockbuster and 90 Minutes of Comedy must have either been a regional package there or ABC's weird way of promoting their Saturday cartoon fare (Fonz & the Happy Days Gang, Richie Rich/Scooby-Doo, Thundarr the Barbarian, Heathcliff & Dingbat, Plastic Man & Baby Plas). If it was ABC, it wasn't billed as such here.

Jeopardy! now airs on WANE at 7:30 following Wheel.

Both shows eventually moved to WSBT in Elkhart/South Bend.

Retro: The last hour of KVFD-TV, Fort Dodge, IA - May 4,1977

If I had access to an Iowa edition of TV Guide, or microfilm of the Des Moines Register, I'd provide the whole day. For the record, the last show aired on KVFD-TV was The Life and Times of Grizzly Adams.

It was 7 pm, and engineer Don Lewis had rejoined the NBC feed after an hour of local programs. He'd been monitoring severe weather activity that afternoon and evening. At 7:15, a Webster County sheriff's deputy spotted a tornado several miles south of town. Tornado sirens were activated in Fort Dodge.

Lewis was able to broadcast tornado warnings several times from the station. At 7:30, there was only enough time for him to dive to safety under a steel table before the station took a direct hit.

A John Wayne movie was on the schedule at 8 pm for NBC's Wednesday Night at the Movies. It wouldn't be seen, nor would KVFD-TV ever return to the air. The station's 650 foot tower at the studio didn't fall, but suffered major structural damage. Tower experts remarked that they had never seen a tower take so much damage and still remain standing.

KVFD's owner and founder Ed Breen made the decision to dismantle the tower. Breen, at age 78 had been trying to sell KVFD-TV for some time, but vowed to rebuild the station anyway. Unfortunately, cancer would take Breen's life less than a year later, which marked the end of commercial TV in Fort Dodge.

KVFD-TV started out life as KQTV in November 1953 on channel 21. Unlike most UHF stations of the time, KQTV actually survived, having a monopoly of sorts in the Fort Dodge area. WOI-TV from Ames was the only other station that reached Fort Dodge at that time. Des Moines' channel 8, KRNT-TV (later KCCI) wouldn't start up until 1955. WHO-TV the NBC affiliate on channel 13 started in 1954, but its tower 15 miles east of Des Moines at the WHO-AM site was too far away to reach Fort Dodge. So it was a natural decision for KQTV to be an NBC affiliate.

KQTV would take the calls of Ed Breen's AM station KVFD in 1967. In the early 70's, Breen built a 1200 foot tower for channel 21 northwest of Fort Dodge. tv Increased revenues didn't follow, so when Iowa Public Television proposed to build a Fort Dodge station, Breen offered the channel 21 tower to IPTV. KVFD-TV would take over IPTV's channel 46 license, modified to channel 50 as a used antenna and transmitter tuned to that channel was available. It was installed at the original 650' tower site next to the studio. KVFD spent less than a year on channel 50 before the tornado 37 years ago this week put the station into the archives.

If I had access to an Iowa edition of TV Guide, or microfilm of the Des Moines Register, I'd provide the whole day.

Well, I have been able to access the Sunday television supplement for that week in the Register and here it is, complete with the abbreviations the newspaper used to fit everything into its assigned space. (Amazingly enough, in 1977 they were still listing each station's schedule individually, forcing viewers to consult 25 separate sets of program listings every time they wanted to see what was on ... the high number because of the inclusion of stations in Sioux City, Omaha and elsewhere in a fairly wide radius.)

Anyway, here is what aired up until channel 50's abrupt demise that day:

7:00 Today

9:00 Club

11:00 Name, Tune

11:30 Lovers, Fr.

12:00 News, Mkts.

12:30 Girl Talk

1:00 Give Away

1:30 Barb Creates

2:00 Another Wld.

3:00 Gong Show

3:30 Eve's Kitchen

4:00 Bozo

4:30 Bullwinkle

5:00 D. Friend

5:30 NBC News

6:00 News, Spts.

6:30 Wild King.

7:00 Grizzly

Between the separate listings and the abbreviations, I wonder if anyone actually used the Register for a guide.

I did!

Believe it or not, when in the late 70s the Register moved to the more accepted convention of listing by time instead of by station, there were complaints. The Register relented, and for a few years published listings both by time and by station. The listings-by-station format had been used by the Register going back to the 50s, so the readers were well conditioned to it.

The following flight of fatuous fancy would not have been possible with listings by time instead of station:

Had...

12:30 Girl Talk

1:00 Give Away

1:30 Barb Creates

2:00 Another Wld.

...been combined into a single program, "Girl Talk: Give Away Barb Creates Another World," the description might have read like a tale of Greek mythology crossed with a twist of Jerry Springer. Gossipy gab about a promiscuous Greek goddess who couldn't take the heat from her girl-frenemies, so she tells them to stick it in Uranus and gallops to a grand new galaxy.

And who can we thank (blame) for this whole mess? WHO. KVFD-TV picked up NBC over-the-air from preemption-prone WHO-TV which at the time ran movies from 12:30 to 2 pm, so KVFD had to come up with their own programming.

A few years back, I wrote a brief history about Ed Breen and KVFD that I should post here, but that will wait for another day.

When did the Register split their TV listings to "eastern Iowa" and "western Iowa" versions (with both versions containing the DSM stations)?

Maybe the 70s, sometime? The daily paper for Des Moines metro only listed the Des Moines & Ames stations, along with radio listings. In the late 60s, they had most of the TV stations plus DM radio listings (yes, actual schedules) in the daily edition we got in eastern Iowa, but the radio listings were dropped at some point, maybe in the early 70s. By the late 70s, I think the radio schedules were dropped in the metro edition, although they continued with a list of radio stations.

As far as Sundays, I think there were multiple editions... east, central, and west... I think even before cable channel listings began taking up space. But I'm not really sure as we didn't get the Sunday paper.

This is one of the better KVFD schedules, a little disappointing their last day on the air didn't have a single "film feature" or "travel to adventure" slotted somewhere.

The "Club" at 9am is the PTL Club, obviously buying the time. So they were wiping out two hours of NBC programs (that were carried by WHO) while having to fill 90 minutes in the afternoon due to the WHO movie. I suppose they didn't have enough video recorders to record the NBC 9-11am programs while playing PTL Club.

Another show that was a regular feature in that 12:30 to 2 pm slot on KVFD was the ongoing saga, "To be ann." "To be ann." in most other markets was a staple of Saturday afternoons, with "T.b.a." occasionally showing up on all three channels in a given market. Of course that was the Register's shorthand and probably inside joke for "To be announced."

My older brothers both carried the Register, so as far back as I can remember we always had the Sunday edition, and occasionally the daily paper if they had extra copies. In the 60s the Register's Sunday edition showed all of the stations that could be received in Iowa. The "Northwest" part of the page was occupied by the Sioux Falls and Sioux City stations (and I think ch.12 KEYC Mankato MN); "Southwest" by Omaha and St. Joseph, MO (ch. 2 KFEQ, later KQTV really was kind of a stretch); "Southeast" by Ottumwa, Hannibal MO/Quincy IL and the Quad Cities; "Northeast" by Cedar Rapids-Waterloo, Mason City-Austin-Rochester and La Crosse WI (ch.8 WKBT, another stretch); and "Central" were the Des Moines stations plus Ames and Fort Dodge. I'm not sure about the daily Register in the 60s. I think the eastern half of the state got a different edition than the western half. Des Moines was in both, but the eastern edition didn't have listings from the west and vice versa.

The split, eastern-western Sunday editions of the Register's TV listings definitely started in the early 70s.

And then there's the ol' PTL Club. That was a staple of a lot of small market stations. KTVO in Ottumwa, or rather by then Kirksville, ran Jimmy and the Make-up Pancake generally around 3:30 or 4 pm.

Such extensive newspaper TV listings seem rather odd today. But up until the early 80's, the Des Moines Register was one of the few morning newspapers in Iowa. Most other regional newspapers in the state were afternoon papers. Even the Cedar Rapids Gazette was an afternoon paper.

KTVO ran the PTL Club from 9 to 11AM starting in at least 1978 (maybe earlier). Later on, KTVO only carried one hour of PTL, putting "Donahue" on at 10AM. In 1981, KTVO dropped PTL altogether, along with the local noon newscast, and finally aired ABC daytime in pattern.

I didn't know Dynasty had a 30 minute version for syndication (11:30 PM on WISH).

Sometime later, WTHR swapped the time slots for Wheel of Fortune and Jeopardy!, although the latter does air at 7:00 when its usual 7:30 slot is pre-empted.

WISH aired Wheel and J! throughout the 1990s, but both shows returned to WTHR in the early 2000s.

Dennis the Menace, Darkwing Duck, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles and Goof Troop on CBS affiliates on weekday afternoons. I know Wilmington is a small market but WOW.

And the Family Feud Challenge was short-lived. This was shortly before CBS gave up this hour to its affiliates. WBTV never aired it.

Family Feud Challenge was short-lived sure, but they retained its Bullseye starter round when it continued on in syndication for two more years. In the Atlanta DMA, WTLK/channel 14 (today WPXA) aired Challenge but the station wasn't on local cable systems so getting it via antenna was a lost cause if you didn't live close enough to the tower site.

Channel 10 seems to have been airing far more paid programming than was common at this time.

When I visited Rio in 1999, all radio and TV stations were required to either run a government program from 7 to 8 PM local time or sign off for that hour. I wonder when that started (don't see it in the listings here) and if they're still doing it today.

What you're mentioning probably happened during an election campaign (local or national). That's called "horario politico" and it's still in place to this day, but not year-round. Stations are given 10 to 30 minutes twice a day (during lunchtime and in the evening) to deliver political messages from the candidates.

That's A Voz do Brasil and it's still mandatory on all radio stations. However, since 2018 commercial stations can now choose to play the show between 7 and 10 PM, while educational and government stations are still mandated to run it at 7PM.

TV doesn't have a similar programme (though formerly all commercial and public stations ran an educational show produced by TV Escola very early on weekend mornings), but both TV and radio are mandated to play political ads during primetime during election campaigns.

Interesting that when WCBS carried Wheel of Fortune, they carried the weekend run likely from Day 1. By this point, Jeopardy! moved from WNBC after its first season to WABC, and they were not airing the show on weekends. With both shows on WABC (Wheel moved in 1990), neither show would be aired on Saturdays in NYC until around 1999 when WABC finally acquired both shows' weekend runs. I don't know if WLNY carried the weekend runs when they had the shows through March 2012.

I don't recall WBTB airing the weekend run of either when they had the rights to both in the 80s, through 1990.

Ch. 55 WCW Wrestling? WCW didn't exist until 1990.

I checked the listings again and it was Championship Wrestling. Sorry about that!

I don't recall WBTB airing the weekend run of either when they had the rights to both in the 80s, through 1990.

Assuming they moved to WCNC after that, where they air now, the weekend runs do air on there.

There are a few markets today that carry one but not the other, but there are only two markets that carry neither: Lima, OH (WLIO; airs Inside Edition Weekend and Mom from 7-8) and Harrisonburg, VA (WHSV; infomercials from 7-8)

7 McGarrett (?)

That's the original Hawaii Five-O. CBS ran them late nights during the period when they had no late night talk shows.

In order to avoid confusion with the syndicated airings they titled it as McGarrett.

Wheel of Fortune at 5:00 PM Eastern? The only time I've ever seen that is during the final few years of WLNy New York's carriage of the show. It eventually moved up from 6:30, then it and other syndies were dropped when WCBS bought them out.

WBTV in Charlotte aired Jeopardy at 5 Eastern, followed by Wheel until 1988ish, then switched their timeslots until 1990, when they moved to WSOC. I think WBTV may have aired Jeopardy at 4 or 4:30 for a year or so. WSOC aired Wheel of Fortune at 7:30 but actually aired Jeopardy at 11:30am for a while. I don't think either did very well on that station. Jeopardy moved to WCNC around 1992 or 1993 where it began airing at 7, Wheel followed in 1996, at 7:30, and it remains that way today. Jeopardy has also aired at 4 or 4:30 in the past on WCNC but hasn't for a while.

WBTV in Charlotte had Jeopardy! at 5 and Wheel of Fortune at 5:30 in the mid-late 80s. They had a one hour newscast at 6, the CBS Evening News at 7, and PM Magazine at 7:30.

Starman, Gung Ho. We were deep in the trend of popular movies being turned into failed TV shows.

And in the awful trend of colorizing classic movies.

I think this was also towards the end of the practice of WQED running instructional programming during the day. Once VCRs became ubiquitous schools just started keeping libraries of their own programs.

I liked the Gung Ho TV series. It was one of Scott Bakula's early roles. I think both it and Starman suffered in the Friday timeslots against still popular established programs.

I didn't get into Starman because I was a big Crime Story fan. Crime Story never got the ratings it deserved either IMO.

We were also almost at the end of PM Magazine which saw WoF and Jeopardy moved into the 7PM timeslot in markets where that became open.

I am kind of surprised that with all of the old cop shows in heavy rotation on cable stations and digitals Crime Story does not appear to be among them.

PM Magazine continued until 1990 on WBTV. But it would be replaced at 7:30 by Inside Edition. Wheel and Jeopardy would move to WSOC that year, then to WCNC where they remain today.

It's hard to believe channel 4 showed the low rated 11:00 AM and 11:30 AM offerings by ABC and not Ryan's Hope.

WTAE ran reruns in that slot for a long time.

I remember my mom would sit down and watch Who's the Boss? nearly every day.

Great schedule!

I've found a little bit of information about the show Inside Report, that WAVE-3 aired on weekdays at 5:30pm back then. It was produced at WSVN in Miami; Penny Daniels was the anchor. It lasted 1 season.

Top O' The Day would be cancelled by WBTV a little more than a month later and they went to a normal half hour newscast. I think this was a mistake. Not the schedule changes. They could have still kept the show, just shortened it. But the ratings must have slipped. The Price Is Right moved back to 11am, in pattern. WBTV picked up Donahue from WSOC and aired it at 9, moving Maury to 10am, pre-empting CBS network programming. CBS would give up that hour the following year anyway. I do not remember if their final 10:30 TPIR was a repeat or not or if they aired the Friday episode on the weekend to catch up with the network.

Isn't that supposed to be Today in the 7:00am timeslot on WPXI?

Yes, you're right! I didn't notice it when I posted it.

Very rare to see an Eastern Time Zone station airing Wheel of Fortune (syndicated version) earlier than 7:00 PM.

Pittsburgh now carries both Jeopardy! and Wheel on WPXI/NBC. The Johnstown market now carries them on WATM/ABC. Steubenville/Wheeling now airs them both in their usual 7 PM hour on WTOV/NBC.

WBTW also aired Wheel at 5:30 after Jeopardy, switching the two in 1988 I believe. The shows moved to WSOC in 1990. Jeopardy now airs at 7 on WCNC, followed by Wheel.

Might have been the last time Joan Rivers filled in for Johnny Carson.

Not long afterwards she'd jump to her own show on the fledgling Fox network, touching off a reported rift in their relationship.

On December 6, 1985 I was selling electronics in a mall in suburban Pittsburgh, well on my way to selling 350 VHS machines in a 60 day period leading up to Christmas. Good memories!

Please post listings for Saturday 12/7/1985 and Sunday 12/8/1985.

Three months earlier, NBC, CBS and ABC did some jostling around with their kidvid line-ups. On ABC, The Flintstone Kids replaced the ill-fated reboot of Beany & Cecil (helmed by John Kricfalusi); on NBC, Punky Brewster and The New Archies (later Fat Albert) replaced 2 Hip 4 TV (a live-action pre-teen show which flopped horribly), while on CBS Teen Wolf replaced their own live-action preteen show called Flip!.

No Jeopardy!, I see. I guess KSDK never acquired the Saturday run of it. They still don't air it on Saturdays (or Sundays) to this day. CST tends to be more flaky about J!'s Saturday run given its typical daytime slotting rather than pairing it with Wheel of Fortune. WLS Chicago (ABC) airs it Saturdays at 6:00 before WOF since they don't have 6:00 news on Saturdays. Other markets tend to air J! Weekend in overnight slots or on Sunday afternoons or evenings, but WOF Weekend is pretty much just Saturdays at its weekday time slot.

Due to the paper's classic grid format, many of the programs' full names were taken from St. Cloud Times, which used a "log" format.

I turned 18 that day.

This must have been from WLIG/WLNY's alternate feed which replaced Wheel of Fortune and Jeopardy! with other shows; they were definitely carrying the shows by then as there are three episodes of WOF from October 1995 on YouTube with WLIG station bugs.

I like how WSB always kept Ryan's Hope at 12:30 despite ABC's decision to give Loving the time slot. WSB didn't start airing Loving until January 1989 after Ryan's Hope was cancelled.

WXIA now airs NBC Nightly News at the customary 6:30 and now airs Wheel at 7:00, with Jeopardy! at 7:30 which eventually moved over from WAGA, although both game shows were on WATL for a time (now MyTV) until the early-mid 2010's. They do still air there on Saturdays and when pre-empted on NBC, however.

A lot of markets have more than one PBS station in their region. We have always gotten two in our market that were provided on cable and satellite as well.

WPBA was first to sign on (1958 as WETV) and served just Atlanta. WGTV is licensed to Athens (based at the University of Georgia) and went on in 1960 to serve mainly north Georgia viewers and schools outside of Atlanta. In 1965, we received WGTV at our school in Macon for Spanish classes every Wednesday. Now they're the GPTV flagship.

Thank you both, I didn't realise that. So the PBS network was created piecemeal rather than being centrally planned?

PBS wasn't established until 1969. Prior, stations like WETV and WGTV were branded as NET or ETV stations, following no known network pattern.

Not a whole lot to see! Did they really get just one channel? I'd suppose they would also get the chance to watch ORT like it was common in Soviet nations.

The entertainment value of that lineup is practically nil, although maybe the "TV movie - concert" was good, whatever the heck it was. That basketball game between teams from Lithuania and Ukraine might have had potential, but its time and length give it away as a condensed version of a past contest, the result of which was likely known to the Lithuanian sports fans.

Note also that the station appears to sign off in the middle of the day, after the 12:40 news, and does not reappear until 6 p.m. Presumably, there were few stay-at-home moms during the years that Lithuania was part of the USSR, so perhaps there was no need to program those hours -- everyone was at work.

I would bet the least-enjoyed program on the schedule was that daily Russian lesson forced upon the Vilnius at-school viewers by the Kremlin media commissars.

In Soviet Union there are only 2 TV channels. Channel 1 is propaganda, 24 hours a day.

Channel 2 is KGB Agent pointing gun at the camera saying "Turn back to Channel 1!"

- Yakov Smirnoff

In fairness Western Europe didn't have much more choice, especially in the smaller countries. For example Ireland and Austria would only have had two channels at this point, and Norway only had one ( not launching a second until 1992!).

None of those countries ended the state broadcast monopoly until the 90s, probably about the same time Lithuania did!

In 1989 we had only three public channels in the Netherlands. Daytime TV was non-existent. It started at 3.30 pm but it had more entertainment.

PBS was only four months old in February 1971, having taken over from NET.

I assume WMHT had a lineup of instructional programs for the classroom airing before 4 p.m. They don't show up in the listing shown here. Why?

I checked the listings again: Sesame Street is listed at 9am, but there aren't programs listed for the station between 10am and 4pm.

Even TV Guide didn't list the in-school programs. There was a note that "in addition, channels 39 and 45 air instructional programming during the school day" or something like that.

Now that you mention it, I do remember that disclaimer. So why was it done? I used to watch some of those shows when I was home from school sick and I'm pretty sure the Boston Globe had them (for WGBH) in its listings.

I loved those old George Plimpton specials! Not sure how many there were in total, or how many years they ran, but they came about as a result of his book "Paper Lion" where he described what it was like for a regular non-football guy to go through an NFL training camp. After it was made into a movie (where he was played by Alan Alda), ABC signed him up to do some specials. The ones I remember were another one at an NFL training camp (the Colts, I think), as well as one where he trained as a trapeze artist and one where he worked as a stand up comic.

The business programming on WKID seems as if it was novel for that time, just a few years after fixed commissions were ended on Wall Street and where investors really had no choice but to visit a broker to trade.

I really wish Bowling for Dollars was still a thing. I loved watching my local version of that show.

Jane Seymour and Karen Allen were both in the iteration of East of Eden that aired (part 2) on this date. Filming had been completed before Raiders of the Lost Ark (Karen Allen) and Somewhere in Time (Jane Seymour) hit theaters. The increased star power of these actresses was a boon to the ratings.

Surprised Plan 9 From Outer Space aired on a weeknight.

2:05 a.m., though. Whatever audience it attracted probably consisted of seriously stoned Boston college and university students.

Also surprised it aired on a major station, even if it were in overnights. The Boston area has an insane amount of colleges and universities.

As befits the Athens of America and the Hub of the Universe. And the city where I was born.

Thanks for posting this

I miss Saturday afternoon PBA on ABC.

WATL sure was into 70s martial arts movies at this point!

Now how about Sunday's schedule?

I duly recall WGTW running Doctor Who twice on Saturdays. One week we saw the 5 PM episode (serialized) again at 10 PM as it was the serial re-edited as full length.

So weird to see not one, but two Eastern Time Zone markets where Wheel of Fortune and Jeopardy! were on separate stations. For Greensboro/Winston-Salem, J! eventually moved to WFMY with Wheel, and for Charlotte, Wheel eventually moved to WCNC.

It's still this way today in Dayton, Ohio with WHIO airing Wheel of Fortune at 7:00 PM and WDTN airing Jeopardy! at 7:30 PM.

It was a couple years later that Wheel moved to WCNC. I believe You Bet Your Life was the last show WCNC aired at 7:30 before picking up Wheel...though I wouldn't bet my life on it haha.

Don't know why the times for Family Feud and You Bet Your Life weren't flipped.

And that's the only market in EST that still separates them. Several in CST do, though, as does Hawaii.

I didn't remember Meet the press airing so much later, but I guess it did. WXYZ was nearing the end of its long run airing an Abbott & Costello film every Sunday morning.

Retro: Boston/Providence/Manchester, Tuesday, Feb 11, 1986

from Boston Globe's TV Week supplement

The paper didn't list WQTV (ch. 68): the station struggled in the ratings and faced severe financial problems at that time; some months later, it was sold to the Christian Science Monitor.

I wonder if Blankety Blank and Sale of the Century were the UK shows or did they do their own versions?

Those were their own versions. The Australian Sale of the Century was very popular: it was on the air for 21 consecutive years (from July 14, 1980 until November 29, 2001), always airing on weeknights at 7pm. It was revived as Temptation in May 2005, also airing on weeknights in the same time period.

TV Titograd has few broadcasts produced in their studios, in the first years (Only up mid-80s, the Titograd studio of JRT became produced around 3 or 4 own broadcasts: a documentary, children programmes or Sportski Pregled, a sports programme created, in fact, by other republican studios, in rotation, every week) but, in the rest, they re-broadcast TV Belgrade emissions everyday before the Breakup of Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, and creation of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (later, Union of Serbia and Montenegro), when the new company, called RTCG began to broadcast daily only local programmes (in 1997, for example, were three TV channels).

The airing of 'Summer of '42' was a network premiere and likely designed to try to counter program the CBS juggernaut of programs led by 'All in the Family'. Saturday was still a prized night for broadcasters at this point.

I noticed that programs for XETV/channel 6 in San Diego were listed but is conspicuously absent from the channel list.

I forgot adding it to the list. I didn't notice it when I posted the schedule. Sorry about that!

Notice that the LA Times listed the short-lived KVST in its listings

I remember disliking that 'Press Your Luck' wasn't cleared in the market because of 'Donahue'. 'Jeopardy' had yet to return and would come in syndication that Fall.

'AfterMASH' had a reasonably successful first season, but dropped off quickly in its second season.

Looking at these old schedules makes me wonder how we somehow got by without hours and hours of local newscasts in the morning and evening. These schedules are filled with general entertainment programming and about an hour of local news. Now it's 2-3 hours in the evening and often 3-4 hours in the morning.

Despite this, I don't think people are any better informed.

The Friendly Giant was still running on CBC as late as 1984, eh?

I remember that show running on NET when I was a wee tot.

Yep, the show ended the following year, but IIRC, CBC still aired reruns into the 90s.

'AfterMASH' had a reasonably successful first season, but dropped off quickly in its second season.

Actually, "AfterMASH" just ran for a single season. It started out with high ratings in that one season, but dropped off dramatically to the point where it was not renewed for a second season.

I am curious about the fate of this LPTV Spanish station on UHF 66.

When I lived in Michigan there was a full-power Fox station on 66 based in Flint.

According to Wikipedia it went on the air in January of 1985. I presume this LPTV must have changed channels at that time?

A couple more rare cases here of syndicated Wheel of Fortune airing earlier than 7:00 PM ET.

According to the "all-knowing" Wikipedia, W66BV continued broadcasting over channel 66 all the way until the 2010s (with a change in networks from SIN/Univision to TBN in the 1990s). It apparently moved to channel 47, with a later change to channel 19, where it continues to operate as WUDL-LD, broadcasting a bevy of infomercials, home shopping, and religion.

It may have had some type of signal, but it was effectively not receivable. I live on the East Side and could never pull this station in.

See, there really was a time when a network other than NBC aired the Olympics!

These were the last Winter Games to be held in a Leap Year. Two years later they were held again in Lillehammer to get them on the alternate even year schedule from the Summer Games. Those Games were also the last Olympics to be held on a network other than NBC.

<https://www.nytimes.com/1994/01/19/sports/olympics-cbs-wins-the-rights-to-98-winter-games.html>

I stand corrected. I forgot that CBS also aired the Nagano Games in 1998.

Yep. And NBC has truly been America's Olympic Network since 2002.

Morton Downey, Jr. still tearing up the airwaves, Mr. T ("The Toughest Man in the World") on late night. What a great time to be a TV viewer!

I'm surprised WBSF broke away from Home Shopping long enough to air some decent shows. Maybe that's how they rated enough public interest to stay on the air. Those call letters now are in Mid-Michigan.

Interesting to see Match of the Day listed on BBC 1 Scotland. My understanding is Scotland has it's own Soccer highlights show covering the Scottish leagues.

Very few Scots would care about Birmingham City V Arsenal!

It's possible the Scottish league was on its winter break that week. That's about the only thing I can think of.

Those 'Iran Crisis' shows on ABC at 11:30PM are what soon became 'Nightline'. At this point, I was an avid watcher of CBS Friday lineup of 'Hulk' and 'Dukes'. I may have watched 'Benji' this night though. Surprised 'Midway' made it into Primetime. It was a four year old movie at this point that had already had a network premiere. Perhaps an indication of how strong CBS was on this night at that time.

"Main Street" was an occasional discussion series hosted by Bryant Gumbel, which, starting this season, replaced its Afterschool Special knockoff, "Special Treat". That being said, what was normally seen at these times? I think WXFL showed "Trapper John MD" at 4, but I'm not sure.

CBS Late Night: WCPX, with "Simon & Simon" and "Madigan", showed that night's schedule, with WJXT and WTVT normally showing it on a week delay. However, "The Dark Side of Innocence", originally broadcast March 18, 1986, was on a two-week delay, due to a CBS News special that was screened on March 25: "CBS Reports: The Vanishing Family-Crisis in Black America". (Source: <http://epguides.com/CBSLateMovie/> )

Did WCTV only show half of CBS Late Night, closing down after "Simon & Simon", or is this schedule only incomplete?

Up until this season, WXFL would be "live" with the network from 10:30AM to 12 Noon, then 1PM to 4PM, with other times replaced with syndicated shows and the local noon news. However, starting this season, they showed "Santa Barbara" on a delay at 9AM with a syndicated drama rerun (in this case, "Quincy", at 3). As far as I knew, they always bumped the 10AM NBC show, initially for "Romper Room" until 1982, then for a syndicated program; I recall the 1984-1986 "Lets Make a Deal" and reruns of Jim Perry's "Card Sharks" being seen at this time as well.

The 12:30PM slot was also always bumped, initially as part of a noon news hour, later for "All In The Family" when the news was shortened to a half-hour. I believe other syndicated shows were also seen in that slot. In consequence, Tampa Bay never saw the final few seasons of "The Doctors" (the soap, not the talk show, which ironically, WFLA carries today) or "Search For Tomorrow" (which was long gone from WTVT when it moved from CBS to NBC).

Earlier this season, "Comedy Tonight" was seen at 12:30AM, with Dave on a delay at 1AM, due to contractual considerations -- WXFL's parent, Media General, was co-producer. Later on, it moved to after Dave, when it was already cancelled.

It's too bad no cable system outside Orlando pulled a "WKID" and showed WFTV late-nights after another channel left the air -- I believe WFTV was one of the first stations in the region to be on the air 24/7, with old movies and reruns.

Yep...KCOP in Los Angeles was another then-indie that showed Wheel and J! (and in that order) before the two eventually moved to a network station (KCBS, and later KABC). Ironically, KCOP and WOGX are now both owned by Fox.

WCPX also appeared not to clear any CBS game shows except for The Price Is Right.

Surprised GMA was broken up as it was.

Wow! I started at KSL eight weeks before. Not very many TV stations at that time.

Bonneville, which owns KSL and the Farnsworth Peak site, built the KSTU tower and transmitter and leased it to them for something like a dollar a year. It was an experiment, done to prove if UHF TV would even work in such a mountainous area.

If it had failed, we would probably not have digital TV, since it relies so heavily on UHF.

By this time, cable was starting to penetrate into many communities. Did SLC ever have KWGN or any of the Los Angeles independents on cable?

I've seen old TV Guides from the '80s where KWGN (2D) and KTVU Oakland/San Francisco (2S) were featured in the listings.

Quick question. Did the American networks reach Montreal over the air? Or was Montreal already largely on cable by 1971?

Burlington/Plattsburgh stations have a large audience in Montreal. I'm pretty sure those stations were received in Montreal over the air and also via cable.

yes. Still are with the right antenna setup

Burlington locals are on cable in Montreal

Ah yes, the four channel era :). Most people still only had four channels until March 1997 when Channel 5 launched. A few people did have analogue satellite but they were very much the minority, and even fewer people had cable.

Worth also pointing out the large amount of regional variation on ITV- within 10 years a series of mergers and takeovers of ITV companies would have reduced that regional variation to just local news.

For those who don't know, Wales got S4C instead of Channel 4. Most of S4C's programming was in Welsh, but they showed some Channel 4 shows as well.

So English only speakers in Wales only had 3.5 channels at this point.

How times change.....

Has there ever been a time when KRQE didn't run a jacked-up CBS daytime schedule?

That's the most jacked up I've ever seen, other than Honolulu, even for a Mountain Time Zone affiliate.

I checked their current daytime schedule and it is identical to an Eastern time affiliate except that B&B is at 12:30 and Y&R is at 1. (Local time)

Lo! KRQE nope! When I worked at the station the schedule was:

10-ATWT

11-TPIR

12-News

12:30-B&B

1:00-Y&R

2:00-GL

They finally stopped airing ATWT a day behind after GL was cancelled and ATWT simply took over the 2PM slot until it's end.

I see ABC split The Ten Commandments into two parts on different nights that year. Had they done that other times before? I always remember them showing it uncut on Easter Sunday.

In Youngstown, Wheel and Jeopardy! now air on WKBN/CBS. WYTV now airs local news at 7:00 and Entertainment Tonight at 7:30, moving from WKBN.

The full official title of The Jerry Lewis Show (7 AM, chs. 2, 3, and 17) was Will the Real Jerry Lewis Please Sit Down?

Ok, Thank you. I should've known that.

I was familiar with the Pioneer Bowl before this. I looked it up. Interesting TV in 1971.

Could they pick up the STL stations that far away?

Quite welcome. :) And I also caught another: The Archie Show (9:30 AM, chs. 4, 7 and 13) was Archie's TV Funnies.

Jeopardy! is now on WHO with Wheel.

In the mid 90s WOI did get the rights of Jeopardy before going to WHO-TV.

Given this was the day of the 1994 Northridge quake most of the Big 3 stations were pre-empted!

That day CBS showed the NFC Divisional Playoff aka the infamous "Fog Bowl" game between the Philadelphia Eagles and the Chicago Bears at 12:30. NBC showed the AFC Divisional Playoff game between the Seattle Seahawks and Cincinnati Bengals at 4pm.

Also WTVJ's King Orange Jamboree coverage had guest stars from NBC shows to promote the switch.

If anyone could post the post switch schedule for that Sunday and the weekday daytime schedule that would be great!

Ok, Thank you. The guide listing I got this from mentioned some of the King Orange Jamboree guest stars, which included Sandy Duncan, Chuck Zink & Cliff Morrison.

I just uploaded the guide listing for Sunday, January, 1, 1989. I might upload the guide listings for January 2 & or 3, 1989 as well.

Although by 2000 it had probably disappeared from statewide cable carriage, I'm surprised that WTTV-4 Bloomington/WTTK-29 Kokomo (then WB, now CBS) wasn't still included in the Tribune's TV listings. (South Bend is 87 miles from Kokomo).

Same with WLFI-18 (CBS) Lafayette (despite 107 miles from SB to LAF).

Retro: Hartford/New Haven, Thur. August 5th, 1993

Been meaning to get to a couple of Retro listings, but haven't had time.

11:00 Mystery!

This was the finale for the CBS game Blackout (9 AM, chs. 10, 12 and 46). It was replaced by the show it replaced thirteen weeks earlier, The $25,000 Pyramid.

I can't believe Degrassi Junior High only ran for two seasons. I remember it quite well from around then.

Also amazed Bergerac, Eastenders and Dr Who were shown on PBS, entertaining enough shows but not particularly educational or informative.

This year would have been close to the back end of Doctor Who in the UK, the following year it disappeared for 15 years until the 2004 reboot.

KPIX...wow. The only CBS affiliate I know of to:

- 1) Air TPIR in the afternoon after CBS moved it to the morning other than after March Madness coverage
- 2) Air the CBS Schoolbreak Special on a Friday
- 3) Pre-empt TPIR with said Schoolbreak Special

Can imagine there were some unhappy viewers in San Francisco. Hope TPIR was a rerun. Maybe that explains why the special aired on a Friday.

Or was that an April Fool's?

It wasn't an April Fool's joke: KPIX was airing Price is Right on weekdays at 3pm. The other CBS stations listed here (KXTV, KHSL and KMST) aired that CBS Schoolbreak Special on Tuesday, March 29th, but KPIX delayed it until April 1st.

I can't remember for sure, but did the Post-Dispatch ever carry TV listings for the then-small town indy WCEE 13 (Mt. Vernon, IL)?

This listing from 22 years ago today would have been right before Paxson's purchase of WCEE, and the station's change to Pax's St. Louis affiliate as WPXS on August 31, 1998.

Or was "CEE-TV's" listings only carried in the St. Louis TVG edition (plus the Belleville News-Democrat)?

Based on a quick search of the P-D archives, they did not carry the listings for WCEE. The few references I found for Channel 13 in its pre-WPXS days consisted of a few want ads, a blurb mentioning an award for crime prevention, and two articles from 1984 detailing the station's difficulties in being added to Southern Illinois cable systems.

Ah, but I remember seeing WCEE's listings in TV Guide, and those rare occasions that Channel 13 (or even KFVS and WSIU) made it into St. Louis were always fun.

WCEE was listed in the St. Louis, Evansville-Paducah, and Eastern Illinois editions of TV Guide. However, the Eastern Illinois Edition dropped WCEE at some point after 1995.

can you add a schedule for Los Angeles from Thursday, March 29, 2001?

You have KOAT twice. The second, with CBS, should be KRQE/channel 13.

Thanks, know where I can edit it to correct it?

Not unless the mods can fix it.

I knew KPTV had aired Perry Mason weekdays at noon for decades, but I had no idea they had a double run for a while.

11AM was an outlier time slot for Change of Heart, as usually it aired in late night (after 11pm) elsewhere. Same with the Blind Date at 11:30 but it must have been the 2nd run.

Did many NBC affiliates air George Gray's Weakest Link? In Seattle I know KSTW had it, and a lot of non-big 3 stations were carrying it nationwide. As for Feud, a much better timeslot than Seattle at this time. KOMO aired Karn's first season at 2:35AM. I think that was the only time KOMO had the current Feud; they did carry Ray Combs' version.

Almost as much entertainment on a few stations then as compared to the same amount just being distributed now over hundreds of channels. Afternoon movies were still a good thing then.

The Price is Right at 2:00 PM? Wow.

Yep! In fact, two other Montana stations, KRTV in Great Falls and KPAX out of Missoula all aired Price in a 2PM timeslot for several years from in the late 90s all the way through at least 2007 I believe.

Special: The Nation's premier auto race, taped earlier today at Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Rick Mears, a three-time winner on the 1978 USAC circuit and co-Rookie of the Year at last year's Indy, won the pole position with a four-lap qualifying run of 193.736 mph in a Penske-Cosworth. Joining Mears in the first row are Tom Sneva, the pole winner in 1977 and '78, who clocked in at 198.998 mph in a McLaren-Cosworth, and defending champ Al Unser (192.503, in a Chaparral-Cosworth). Three former Indy winners occupy the second row: Bobby Unser (189.913, in a Penske-Cosworth), Gordon Johncock (189.753, in a Penske-Cosworth) and A.J. Foyt, the event's only four-time champion (189.613, in a Parnelli-Cosworth). Because of rules changes designed to improve driver safety, qualifying speeds are down by nearly 10 mph as opposed to last year's. Approximate purse: $1,000,000. Jim McKay, Bill Flemming, Jackie Stewart and Chris Economaki report.

7 Movie

'Dummy.' Dramatizing a real-life murder case. LeVar Burton stars as Donald Lang, a deaf man also unable to speak, who is accused of killing a Chicago prostitute; and Paul Sorvino plays Lowell Myers, the public defender who represents Lang, despite his own hearing impairment. While preparing the case, Myers uncovers facts he feels prove his client's innocence. However, the court decides that Lang's inability to communicate makes him incompetent to stand trial, and the young man is remanded to a mental institution. Disputing this ruling, Myers begins an arduous round of appeals. His argument is that, since Lang's handicap is permanent, the court has in effect put him away for life without due process of law. Ernest Tidyman adapted the script for this 1979 TV-movie from his book. Brian Denehy, Rose Gregorio.

When did KOB carry Sanford and Son since it was pre-empted on Friday nights for Hee Haw? I also noticed that KOB didn't carry Somerset either.

Good question!

Also missing is Guiding Light....

I'm always surprised to see Guiding Light missing from these 1974 Albuquerque schedules. I know that I went out there in '77, and that I used to see the New Mexico edition of TV Guide regularly when I lived in Texas (same time), and that Channel 13 was carrying GL by that time. Of course, in '74 GL was on at noon (Mountain); in '77 it was on at 12:30, so my guess is that 13 picked it up in December '75 when As The World Turns went to an hour (11:30-12:30), decided to delay ATWT (as it does today), and put GL on after the noon news (12:30).

...and that I used to see the New Mexico edition of TV Guide regularly when I lived in Texas (same time)...

Since the NM edition was used across the state--and time zone--line, did the top of each listings page have a disclaimer stating the times were Mountain?

bpatrick said:

...decided to delay ATWT (as it does today)...

Can anyone with an inside to the KRQE-TV brain trust explain why they jumble the CBS daytime schedule so badly, flipping shows and airing ATWT on a one-day delay? Why not just run it in pattern 10-12 and 12:30-3 MT? Or if there's something sacred about Y&R being on at 1 and all the other jumbling, use the alternate feed of GL and air it in the morning (same-day) instead of ATWT (one day late...maybe...see next).

I was just about to state the same thing about KUTV Salt Lake City's daytime schedule, especially since it is a CBS O&O (but that never stopped WCBS-TV, WBZ-TV, et al, prior to the alt feed of GL) when I decided to compare ATWT story lines in the zap2it.com listings on Monday January 29 for ABQ, SLC and NYC.

The ATWT synopsis listed for WCBS-TV NYC at 2 ET (live feed) is the same as what is listed for KRQE-TV ABQ at 10 MT! Meanwhile, KUTV SLC at 11 MT shows a different story line which would indicate one-day behind.

So...CBS Air Control folks and CBS affil MCOs, how can ABQ air the same episode two hours before it's fed on the network? And if they have some pre-feed access trick up their sleeve, why doesn't the CBS O&O in SLC do the same thing? Or are the zap2it.com listings incorrect?

Quite why many Mountain Time CBS stations air things out of pattern is unknown to me. Along with KRQE and KUTV, there is also KKTU(Colorado Springs) and the Montana&Idaho CBS stations. At one point when I lived in Denver KMGH(when it was CBS) started moving things around, putting Bold and the Beautiful a day-behind at 10, Price is Right at 10:30, News at 11:30, and then Young and the Restless at Noon. At one point they even picked up Loving(???) shifting the schedule around again.

I live in Albuquerque now, and as far as I know As The World Turns is a day-behind. KRQE's schedule outside of primetime use to be really screwy about 10 years ago before coming to their current line-up. I think the reason they put Young and the Restless at 1(as opposed to 3PM, when I first moved here) was to be more competitive for that timeslot, maybe; KRQE was stuck at #3 forever, and it's only within the last couple of years(snatching popular anchors from other stations, being bought by Lin TV) their fortunes have changed.

As for feeds, at one point NBC stations could air the soaps(when they had three) whenever they wanted without delays back in the late 90s. I think it still exists, but most NBC stations air them in pattern, although not for much longer since Zucker is gung-ho about cancelling soaps right now. :eek:

Since the NM edition was used across the state--and time zone--line, did the top of each listings page have a disclaimer stating the times were Mountain?

As far as I know, I never saw such a disclaimer. The old NM edition carried El Paso stations, and El Paso is MT. There are a couple TX satellites in state-line towns, most notably KVIH in Clovis and KUPT in Hobbs, but no disclaimers for them.

If Channel 13 carried the morning feed of Guiding Light they'd be airing it at either 7 AM or 8 AM (there are two morning feeds, at 9 and 10 AM Eastern), much too early for a soap.

As The World Turns is on the network at 12 Noon (Mountain), which is when a lot of these Mountain stations have local news, and there is no alternate feed. Y&R probably is on at 1 for ratings reasons; to carry the network feed would mean airing it at either 10 or 10:30 AM (but in the '70s Y&R came on in Albuquerque at 10--after Love Of Life!). If KRQE doesn't want to run ATWT at noon, it might make more sense if it did what WTVF Nashville did up until last fall: delay it until later in the afternoon.

I don't know why, for daytime, the networks don't simply let the Mountain stations carry the Pacific feeds (except for the early-morning shows);

Pacific follows Central time, so Mountain would be on the same schedule as Eastern time (11 AM-4 PM, with appropriate gaps). Any thoughts?

To clarify: Not suggesting they air it live, just that they record the alternate morning feed of GL and air it in their current ATWT slot, with ATWT shifting to an afternoon slot.

It's been common knowledge on the board about the 10am ET alternate feed of GL, when did CBS begin offering the third (9am ET) feed?

bpatrick said:

Or just air the whole daytime schedule in pattern on a one-hour delay. Y&R should be just as strong at 11 MT as at 1, and many CT/MT/PT affils air it in late morning (11 or 11:30 local). They could opt to flip TPIR with their syndie hour, airing TPIR "live" at 9 (as KPHO-TV PHX does).

Don't get me started on "Pacific time plus one hour"--we have to deal with that from our stupid cable company in PHX (they would like me to mention their name...) that has this love affair with left coast feeds for cable nets. Cable prime in the winter, 9pm-midnight. Ooooooh! :mad:

But back to the idea at hand. I don't think the stations would like it since they'd have to fill until 11, they wouldn't get a news window until 1, and they'd have only one hour in late afternoon for syndie product...if they had no newscasts prior to Jive At Five.

Not sure if this still applies, but years ago the story was that the CBS affils in PHX and TUS could not just take the left coast satellite for daytime in the summer (where MST clock time matched the PDT feed) as the network would run some different spots aimed at the coast audience only. So KOOL-TV and KOLD-TV had to stay with their two-hour delay pattern off the NYC feed, along with a few spot "cut-ins" of their own from time to time (AZ was a big test market for some advertisers).

I see your point about taping the GL morning feed. The 9 AM (ET) feed began back in September, when WBZ Boston moved the show from 10 AM to 9 in order to carry Rachael Ray at 10; WBZ is a CBS o&o. At the same time, WKMG Orlando moved GL from 10 to 9, and two stations which were already carrying it at 9 on a day-behind basis--WSBT South Bend and WGME Portland, ME, were put on same-day.

The mechanics of this Mountain/Pacific thing are too complicated for my blood, especially since Arizona stays on MST in the summer. But if the Mountain stations were allowed to take the Pacific feed, Y&R could still air at 12:30 (it's on in LA at 11:30 Pacific) and the local news could still air at noon. Anyway, it was just an idea.

And I need to clarify something. I should have said "same year" instead of "same time" when I mentioned living in Texas and going to Albuquerque in '77. I may have implied I lived in El Paso; actually, I lived in Dallas which, of course, is Central time, one hour ahead of Albuquerque.

...how far back did "The Val de la O Show" start production? It was an Albuquerque-based talk show that shifted between English and Spanish interviews and music. I recall it was syndicated in the early '80s and appeared in Chicago on WBBS-TV/60 on Sunday nights in 1984 just before the Spanish-tracked version of "Southwest Championship Wrestling"...

Hi everyone:

Well...First off all....I believe ABC had asked KMGH 7 to carry Loving once it became very clear to ABC that KMGH wanted to sign with them instead of going with NBC since KUSA 9 wasn't even carrying it at all (Not even late at night or on a one day delay). That's why they did that.

Also, let's not forget KCNC 4's carrying of Search For Tomorrow in the awkward time slot of 10:30 AM back in the '80s when NBC first picked up the show from CBS. This was also at a time when KUSA 9 could barely make a go of carrying a morning soap opera with Ryan's Hope at that hour. In addition, many years later, KCNC 4 also carried Guiding Light on a one day delay at 9:00 AM, though this move didn't last long. As a result, the show is now back on at it's familiar 2:00 PM time slot.

Cheers :D

In the move to NBC, wasn't SFT returned to it's longtime 12:30 ET slot?

So KCNC-TV would have taken the live feed at 10:30 MT.

Good point, that's probably why KCNC did that I don't he took that into consideration lol.

I think Welcome Back Kotter was just coming to the end of its first season. Popular, but not the big deal it became as John Travolta gained fame.

Search for Tomorrow and As the World Turns got bumped for a movie??

You are missing Channel 20 KTXA which had been on the air since early in 1983. KHTV seems unusual...No morning or afternoon cartoons were aired according to this schedule. Are you sure? I have a TV Guide from Fall of 85 and Fall of 84 and KHTV 39 had 2 hours of weekday morning cartoons and an hour of afternoon ones. I swear the Munsters were not on TV 39 by then but on TV 20...I need to research this more because KHTV's schedule just seems too unusual at a time cartoons were a huge part of these schedules.

One of the things I noticed is that there's a channel 20 listed in brackets, but not with the same black bullets as the other stations. Maybe that channel was KTXH, that wasn't mentioned in the station list by the paper.

Interesting schedule. The syndicated version of WoF wasn't yet paired with Jeopardy.

It still isn't in Houston. Wheel now airs on KHOU/CBS. I believe it did have Jeopardy! for a while but aired it in a late-night time slot, so KTRK/ABC took it off their hands in 2013 or so.

KTRK now airs it at 11:30 AM in daytime and the Jeopardy repeats known as "Daytime Jeopardy!" air at 1:05 AM. They had it at 3:00 PM when they first got it from KHOU, but now air a newscast at that time with Inside Edition at 3:30 PM.

Here was the schedule for channel 20 at that particular time:

5:00 Romper Room(except on Monday)

5:30 Morning Stretch

6:00 Jimmy Swaggart

6:30 Here's To Houston

7:00 Voltron, Defender Of The Universe

7:30 Superfriends

8:00 Heathcliff

8:30 Dennis The Menace(Jay North)

9:00 Movie

11:00 Family

12:00 Bewitched
12:30 I Dream Of Jeannie
1:00 Leave It To Beaver
1:30 Father Knows Best
2:00 Heathcliff
2:30 Robotech
3:00 He-Man And The Masters Of The Universe
3:30 Voltron, Defender Of The Universe
4:00 Scooby Doo
4:30 Brady Bunch
5:00 Mork And Mindy
5:30 I Dream Of Jeannie

South Ferretti. maybe you could post Channel 20's evening and late night schedules for that Tuesday. Could you also post information on that morning's movie?

These were KTXA's evening programs on that day:

6:00 Little House on the Prairie
7:00 Dallas
8:00 Movie "Taming of the Shrew"
10:30 Dating Game

The schedules for the Atlanta TV stations on the day of the opening ceremonies of the 1996 Olympics. AWESOME!!! Does anybody have the schedules for the Salt Lake City TV stations on the day of the opening ceremonies of the 2002 Winter Olympics?

Fifty years past this upcoming March 30, Jeopardy! made its premiere on television. Here's what Atlanta TV looked like that day:

WSB/ch. 2 (NBC)

6:30 - Farm News, Weather

7 AM - The Today Show

9 AM - Today In Georgia

10 AM - Say When!!

10:30 - Word For Word

11 AM - Concentration

11:30 - Jeopardy!

12 Noon - News

12:30 - Movie: "The Damned Don't Cry" (1950)

2 PM - Let's Make A Deal; NBC News

2:30 - The Doctors

Actually, IIRC that is the wrong morning lineup for TBS. I think for a short time during that era we had Who's The Boss?, Growing Pains, Saved by the Bell: The New Class, Head of the Class, Charles in Charge, and Laverne and Shirley.

Also back then, TBS was over-the-air channel 17 (WTBS) in Atlanta.

Rush Limbaugh sure had a better timeslot here than the late night slots he had in a lot of markets for his TV program.

Surprised that Super Dave actually made it to syndication. No idea how long it lasted after having originally been on Showtime.

Super Dave aired on broadcast TV (Global) in Canada, where the show was filmed. Also, K55DP had no cable carriage, but KTVU still had cable carriage in 1995 in parts of the Reno area!

Wheel of Fortune and Jeopardy! now air on KOLO ABC 8.

Ouch - daytime infomercials on both KGW and KATU?

And as of 2020, Wheel/Jeopardy are in swapped timeslots on KATU in prime access; sister station KOMO Seattle has aired them at the same timeslots for 30+ years.

So WBTV wasn't the only Eastern Time Zone CBS affiliate to air The Price Is Right at 10:30 (a day behind) at that time for hourlong news at 11:30 (Top O'The Day) until 1992, at which point it cut the news to 30 minutes beginning at noon and TPIR moved to 11 in pattern. At first it aired at noon, then it moved to 11:30 shortly after CBS moved Young and the Restless to 12:30.

Geez, Louise. Charlotte, NC. 90 minutes of Another World at 9am? It was hard enough to take in the afternoon. Wonder how that worked out for them.

I'm also surprised that WBTV failed to clear Y&R. It was CBS' highest rated soap in the late 70s, a solid #3 in the yearly Nielsens. Maybe with more clearances (I've noticed a fair number of stations not carrying it circa 1979), it might've been able to edge out at least one other ABC soap.

And what's up with Adam-12 "pre-empting" Gunsmoke at 5pm on WBTV? Were they running the 1/2 hour Marshal Dillon version?

To answer your question about "Gunsmoke," WBTV was carrying the hour-long episodes; there was a special at 5:30, so "Adam-12" was put in to fill the half-hour gap.

WBTV would pick up "Y&R" at 1 PM, moving "Search For Tomorrow" to 10 AM, before it expanded to an hour; I think that would have been toward the end of 1979 or the beginning of 1980 ("Y&R" went to an hour on Feb. 4, 1980). As for "Another World," it would revert to an hour on August 4, 1980 (2-3 PM) as the spinoff soap "Texas" aired from 3-4 on NBC.

WGGs definitely ran Fred Flintstone & Friends not the 166 Flintstones episodes back then. Fred & Friends was a straight barter low cost show while the Flintstones was highly expensive back then. The Flintstones began going barter in 1982 when General Mills syndicated the show along with Scooby Doo, Bewitched, Partridge Family, and I Dream Of Jeannie. General Mills picked up these shows from Columbia. The Bewitched and Jeannie shows excluded the black & white ones though. Under the barter deal the station would run 2 minutes of general mills ads during each show plus run 10 minutes of these ads per day per show spread out during daytime hours. For cartoons the ads had to be run between the 6 and 9 a.m. hours and the 3 to 6 p.m. hours. The General Mills Syndicated arm was called DFS. Flintstones began going on this deal in 1982 as the cash deals with Screen Gems expired. In fact in Philadelphia when WKBS TV 48 went dark in 83 they had a year to go on the Flintstones which expired in 1984 but Screen Gems and DFS would not allow this title to move to Channel 17. Channel 48 also was contracted to begin runs on Bewitched which did move to Channel 17 (Bewitched was not ever aired on 48 because the contract was to take effect after 48 went dark and was made before the decision to dismantle 48 was made). But Channel 17 WPHL had to get their own contract for Flintstones which they did several months after Channel 48 went dark.

Also Channel 48 was scheduled that fall to pick up One Day At A Time, Love Boat, Fantasy Island, and Inspector Gadget and those shows did go to Channel 17. The Viacom shows like All In The Family (which went to Columbia/Embassy in 1991), I Love Lucy, Beverly hillbillies, Honeymooners, Gomer Pyle, and Dick van Dyke also could not go to Channel 17 because of Viacom's policy about second hand selling of shows to other stations. Viacom would not allow their shows to be sold second hand. Channel 17 did buy Gomer and Dick Van Dyke 6 months later on their own.

Back to WGGs - WGGs ran only low cost and no cost secular shows. They spent little money on programming despite being the only independent in the market until 1979. Later in 79 Channel 40 went on the air as an independent and they too had a low budget lineup. It was not until 1984 when Pappas signed on 21 WHNS that a strong independent went on the air there...

One other thing that I cannot figure out is how Asheville is part of the Greenville market. the cities are 80 miles apart - farther than some markets are from each other (Washington & Baltimore are a mere 25 miles from each other - Cincinnati and Dayton are 40 miles apart - Providence and Boston 50 miles apart - Ralliegh and Greensboro are about 45 miles apart) - Channel 13 Asheville though transmits between Asheville and Spartanburg so it reaches Greenville but its tough to reach south of Greenville. Channel 16 though cannot reach Asheville at all - niether can TV 40. But 40 and 13 are now co owned. Channel 40 is an Independent stationon their main channel but run ABC 13's shows on DT-2. Channel 13 Asheville runs 40's schedule on their DT 2 now so digital resolved that issue. Same with 62 Asheville and 7 Spartanburg. They run each others programnmng on their subchannels. Still Asheville is way to far to be in the Greenville Market..

Asheville is actually about 60 miles from Greenville and Spartanburg. I suspect the reason Asheville and Greenville are considered the same market is because there has been a network affiliate (WLOS-ABC) in Asheville that gets into Greenville since 1954. WLOS, in fact, at one time was seen in six states (the two Carolinas, Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, and Georgia); it was the de facto ABC affiliate for Bristol/Kingsport/Johnson City until WKPT signed on in 1969; it also got into Knoxville and people there tended to watch it rather than WTVK/26 before ABC switched to WATE/6 in 1979. On top of that, WYFF and WSPA put a clear signal into Asheville, as does WHNS, which is licensed to Asheville.

In 2008 a friend and I (my friend from 60 miles north of New Orleans began a trip from his home to Birmingham, Atlanta, Charlotte, Gatlinburg, then back to Atlanta through Asheville (not far from Gatlinburg) and visited the Biltmore. This was a 10 day trip. Anyhow I was amazed at how far Greenville and Asheville were from each other. It was like a 90 minute drive. I did notice that in Gatlinburg, WLOS reached as well as the Knoxville ABC station. I alos notice that 13 was in the newspaper TV sections while the rest of the Greenville Spartanburg stations were not. Chances are the transmitter of WLOS is about 15 miles or so south of Asheville. The Greenville station transmitters are likely near Spartanburg so the stations have an 80 % overlap when all is said and done. Still Channel 13 does likely lack signal south of Greenville in the Anderson area and Channel 40 does reach Greenville well but barely reaches Spartanburg and does not reach Asheville while Channel 16 does not reach Asheville. The issue with digital for Channel 40 and 13 seem resolved as each station is aq mirror simulcast of each other ABC on 13 DT-1 and Independent on 13 DT-2 while in reverse on 40 DT-1 and 40 DT-2.

I do wonder what ever happened to Channel 55 in the Crossville area though...

I thought for MANY years during this time that WBTV/CHARLOTTE aired "Price Is Right" from 10:30 to 11:30.

It did, from 1982 to 1992 when Top O' The Day aired at 11:30am.

55 from Crossville moved to channel 20 in 1982 and is now WBXX (Knoxville's CW affiliate). Reading through the history cards, WCPT had applied to move to channel 7, but WTVK (which eventually moved to channel 8 years later) stopped it from progressing. In the analog days, channel 7 would have been properly spaced to other channel 7's (WBBJ, WTVW, WSPA, WHIO, WCIQ) in an area stretching from Crossville/Cookeville up to around Pulaski, KY

It is interesting to see WJHL airing Love of Life at 3:30pm when CBS demoted the show from 11:30am to 4:00pm in April 1979--a timeslot many CBS stations pre-empted. The 3:30 slot after Guiding Light made more sense for the show instead of M*A*S*H reruns. Even the CBS owned stations carried Love of Life at 3:30/2:30pm. If CBS had given it the network timeslot at 3:30pm, the show might have lasted longer. It was cancelled by CBS in February 1980.

Geez, Louise. Charlotte, NC. 90 minutes of Another World at 9am? It was hard enough to take in the afternoon. Wonder how that worked out for them.

I'm also surprised that WBTV failed to clear Y&R. It was CBS' highest rated soap in the late 70s, a solid #3 in the yearly Nielsens. Maybe with more clearances (I've noticed a fair number of stations not carrying it circa 1979), it might've been able to edge out at least one other ABC soap.

And what's up with Adam-12 "pre-empting" Gunsmoke at 5pm on WBTV? Were they running the 1/2 hour Marshal Dillon version?

My grandmother used to give up her afternoons to watch All My Children, The Doctors and General Hospital. Talk about being devoted to soaps. When WFBC aired the ACC Tournament(one day then) she'd watch One Life to Live.

Correction:EEK:n Channel 25, Let's Make A Deal aired at 12, not news, as apparently Channel 25 did not have a Noon newscast yet.

At this time, WOOD had the WOTV calls. However, on checking the source, the source printed the WOOD calls (Channel 8 had the WOTV calls from 1972 to around 1991/92 before reverting to WOOD)

Thanks for posting this, RALfan! BTW, anyone know what B'wana Michael or Bunker Hill are?

"Bunker Hill" was the host of a locally based cartoon show on WKBG. "Astro Boy" was part of it. I used to have to watch it every afternoon babysitting my brother, who was 10 years younger, back when I was 12 through 15. Not sure about the show on WSBK, but I'd imagine it was similar, with a different selection of cartoons.

So I had no idea that the WWWWB call letters used to be in Tampa. After some research I found that it wasn't long after this at all that due to an affiliation deal with Sinclair, channel 32 lost its affiliation with WB to WTTA and changed its call letters to WMOR, and they are still an indy.

What was then WB affiliate WFVT 55 in Charlotte claimed the WWWWB call letters not long after this and would keep them until April 2006, when they would be changed again to their current WMYT in advance of its switch to MyNetwork TV.

Wait a minute... so Extreme Ghostbusters was running on KJZZ and KUWB at the same time? I wonder if one of those shows is actually Extreme Dinosaurs. Can anyone clear this up?

this would also mark Michael J. Fox's last appearance on Spin City before Charlie Sheen took over.

Must have been the perfect cure against insomnia. What a boring schedule

Well you didn't have many options in the USSR, especially outside major cities like Moscow. When did Uzbekistan get multiple channels?

I gotta admit, the first thing that popped into my mind from an Uzbek TV listing was this SCTV skit.

Part 2 Tomorrow!

Why does KOVR's listings start at 7am?

Fixed.

What was wrong with it?

You put KXTL on Channel 40. The station is actually KTXL

Also, when will Part 2 come? And again, why does KOVR's listings start at 7am and not 5am like the others?

It's interesting how this market pre-empted daytime shows Price is Right, All My Children, and Another World, while lower rated shows like Home, Santa Barbara, and Loving were carried. In later years, Guiding Light was dropped by KXTV. KOVR didn't add it when they became the CBS station nor when they became a CBS owned station.

Why does KOVR's listings start at 7am?

I rechecked the listings and apparently KOVR did not sign on before 7 AM

Here is Part 2 of these listings(late night listings only for movies on 31, 40 and 58):

I don't think part of the KCRA listing is right, considering that its had a 6:30 p.m. newscast for decades and also, you have NBC News listed twice at 5:30 and 6:30 p.m.

My apologies. I rechecked the schedule and there was an hour of local news at 5, followed by NBC News at 6

Retro: Eastern Washington, Wed. May 24th, 1967

WHUF is actually WUHF.

I also see WORK at the top. But that's meant to be WOKR.

Posters sometimes make mistakes. Lighten up, guys.

Sorry if I'm coming across too harsh. It's just that if someone (for instance, myself) is looking for mentions of WUHF in the internal search engine, I want to make sure they find this page.

I was refering to itsRoly4266, wanting to point out every mistake made on schedule posts.

Clipping of TV guide listing from Newspapers.com

Likely one of the last episodes of Welk, if not the very last one. According to Wikipedia, his last original show aired in April of 1982, so this would be towards the end of the summer reruns.

NOTES about stations:

At the time of these listings, KLMN-TV/24, Fort Smith, Arkansas, was about a month away from signing on. KLMN would be a CBS affiliate (until swapping networks with KFSM in 1980). According to Wikipedia, KLMN signed-on the air on November 12, 1978. The Channels Listed section of this TV Guide still lists KFPW and its satellite, KTVP, as being primary CBS and secondary ABC. The listings demonstrate that KFPW and KTVP are now exclusively ABC with no sign of CBS programming. Also of note, there is a KTVP ad in the issue that still sports the CBS eye! Presumably, KFPW/KTVP went exclusively ABC at or near the beginning of the fall TV season. Although I can't find any info stating so, it's possible that KLMN had planned on an earlier sign-on date, but was delayed due to technical and/or other reasons.

KMOS-TV/6 Sedalia: For many years, KMOS was a satellite station of KRCG/13 (CBS) in Jefferson City. The Missouri Edition of TV Guide always listed KMOS on the Channels Listed page, but noted that the station aired the same programs as Ch. 13, and KMOS did not actually appear in the listings. In 1978, KRCG's owner donated KMOS to Central Missouri State University in Warrensburg to be utilized as a stand-alone PBS station. According to Wikipedia, the university took control of KMOS on August 15, 1978, about two months before this issue of TV Guide. Wikipedia states that KMOS was off the air for 16 months while being upgraded to be a stand-alone PBS station, returning to the air on December 22, 1979. This issue of TV Guide still lists KMOS as a satellite of KRCG, but it's possible that KRCG failed to inform TVG of KMOS being donated and off the air, or TVG just made a mistake in listing the station. I have a TV Guide from late December of 1978, and KMOS is not listed. Since it's very likely that KMOS was off the air as of October of 1978, I'm not including it in the Channels Listed section.

I will try to post a schedule from that late December 1978 issue (featuring KLMN-TV) a bit later.

NOTES about stations:

At the time of these listings, KLMN-TV/24 (CBS) in Fort Smith, Ark. has been on the air for about a month and a half. Since the early '70s, KFPW had been the primary CBS affiliate for Fort Smith, with satellite KTVP coming along to serve Fayetteville in late 1977. KFPW and KFSM (formerly KFSA) had maintained secondary ABC affiliations prior to KFPW/KTVP becoming exclusively ABC in the fall of 1978.

KMOS-TV/6 in Sedalia is off the air, not to return until December of 1979. Prior to August of 1978, KMOS had been a satellite of KRCG/13 (CBS) in Jefferson City. KRCG's owner donated KMOS to Central Missouri State University for use as a stand-alone PBS station. CMSU took KMOS off the air (presumably in August 1978) for extensive upgrades before re-launching the station as the PBS affiliate for the Columbia-Jefferson City market.

I have the actual issue.

Oh, Ok. Thanks anyway. If you have any listings from when KMOS-TV came back on the air, could you please post them. Thanks.

Boy, do I remember that Atlanta-Dallas playoff. Falcons fans were riding a high crest after the Falcons beat Philadelphia in the wild card the previous Sunday. The game against Dallas turned out to be men (Dallas) vs. boys (Atlanta).

(For some reason, KSPR-TV was delaying ABC primetime by 1 hour, probably so they could continue to sell some local commercial spots in primetime, or to fulfill syndication contracts. They wouldn't start airing ABC primetime from 7-10PM until 2 weeks later.)

8:00PM MacGyver

9:00PM NFL Football: San Diego at Seattle (TAPE DELAYED)

1:00AM MOVIE: 'Storm Warning' (1951)

Good thing this was before the Internet! Otherwise, Springfield NFL fans would have been pissed at KSPR for tape-delaying MNF.

KSPR should have carried the football game live and aired "MacGyver" at another time. Of course, ABC may have objected to that for whatever reason.

It is kinda weird. According to what I've seen from other TV listings from that week, ABC was also showing the 1986 World Series & KSPR-TV actually did not show the first hour of the games.

Another thing was that, as this time, KSPR-TV was owned by Lorimar-Telepictures, who was decided that they wanted the ABC affiliation for KSPR-TV. The former ABC affiliate in Springfield, MO, KDEB-TV, Ch. 27

(Now MyNetworkTV affiliate, KOZL-TV.) was run by a company called Meyer Communications (As KMTC-TV from 1968 to 1985.) who actually ran the station on a shoestring budget & as a result, the station wasn't doing too well in the ratings (It didn't help that the other TV stations in the area were on VHF.). In 1985, Meyer Communications renewed the affiliation with ABC for 2 years, until January 1987 & sold the station to a company called Woods Communications, who had changed the callsign to KDEB-TV & promised ABC that they would make improvements. In the meantime, KSPR-TV, which had only been on the air for almost 3 years & 7 months was sold from a local company, which was called Springfield TV Association Ltd. to Lorimar-Telepictures. In 1985, Lorimar-Telepictures & KSPR-TV sent a presentation to ABC & in turn, KDEB-TV & Woods Communications were asked by ABC to send them presentation showing why they should keep the affiliation (This was when KDEB-TV was in the process of renewing their affiliation with ABC.) & ABC decided that they would be better off with Lorimar-Telepictures & KSPR-TV. ABC terminated the affiliation with KDEB-TV in April 1986 & allowed them to carry ABC programming until October 1986. In the meantime KDEB-TV started dropping most of ABC's programming except half of the primetime programming, which was picked up by KSPR-TV, except for the Saturday morning programming which KSPR-TV didn't start carrying until October 1986. Woods Communications & KDEB-TV ended up filling a lawsuit against Lorimar-Telepictures, KSPR-TV & ABC & they won, but then lost on appeal. There is some more I could probably add here but this post has gone on long enough.

Charles Woods Television Corp. v. Capital Cities/ABC, Inc.

High Court Refuses TV Station Appeal

Thank you so much, Route66Fan!

You're welcome.

Good thing this was before the Internet! Otherwise, Springfield NFL fans would have been pissed at KSPR for tape-delaying MNF.

KSPR wasn't the only station doing this. KOMO Seattle and KATU Portland both tape delayed MNF to 7pm Pacific Time in order to get their evening news as usual (although Seahawks games would be aired live). And until about 2000, Hawaiian stations would tape delay most weekday sports events until prime time.

Correction: Edge of Night (2:30 PM) should be channels 4, 6 and 13.

Correction, part deux: Same with Love of Life (11:30) and Young & The Restless (12 Noon). I'm a creature of infinite error.

Okay, here's a repost of this listing with all corrections made. Mods, please remove the OP and the two posts below it.

VA - Version Allemande (Dubbed in German)

VF - Version Francaise (Dubbed in French)

VO - Version Original (Not dubbed but subtitled)

I wonder how a Belgian TV could get all those stations, since France was still broadcasting on 819 lines while Germany and Holland used 625 lines. For that matter, what did Belgian TV broadcast on? And could Belgian TVs handle both PAL and SECAM when color came in?

Cable TV was quite common in Belgium. What a cable customer had to use was a converter. When I lived in Belgium (from 2000 to 2004) I still had to use a converter to watch the French channels.

According to the old Les Brown Encyclopedia of Television, Belgium was the first country in the world where the majority of residents had cable TV (Canada was second). That explains why!

Channel 4(now WYFF) is Greenville, South Carolina, not Greensboro

At last check, WFBC is in Greenville, S.C. because its today's WYFF.

Thank you, I got the two confused.

The WFBC calls were later used by what is now WMYA, channel 40 in the same market. It was a WB, and now it is a My Network TV affiliate. It is in a duopoly with WLOS.

I had no idea WCCB ever delayed Good Morning America. Wow! Had to have been another reason ABC wanted an upgrade!

Kind of odd to see WCCB and WRET both airing the PTL Club at the exact same time, even though this was the home base of the PTL ministry

Channel 5 WTTG NEVER RAN Reuters News Reports. At 3 PM they ran cartoons of some sort and at 8:30 PM they had Merv Griffin...Wherever you saw they had the Reuters News Show - must have been a typo.

Or the local cable company may have replaced WTTG's signal during those times with Reuters News reports

As the local stations may have had rights to Merv Griffin and some of the cartoons and simply blacked them out on out of market stations like WTTG(Washington, D.C.)

Was probably just for a day the two stations ran it. The stations were each changing so my theory was PTL was going from one station to the other moving to WCCB from WRET.

PA-NY state was a very interesting edition.

The Syracuse stations were black boxes up until 1981, when they became the oblong 3S, 5S, 9S, and 24S. This could get confusing as there was a 5N and 5S, and a 9N and 9S. Around 1989 or 1990 they switched again, to white boxes and back to 3, 5, 9, and 24.

In this issue, 12, 16, 18, 22, 28, 34, 36, 38, 40, 44 and 46 were in black boxes. The others were in white. WOR was listed in the cable listings [you know how A&E, CNN etc follows the broadcast channels] and was not 9N.

But I would sure like to get a Utah-Idaho edition sometime, just to see those weird looking boxes...

11 Physician's Television Network

Debut: This weekly series offering instructional programs for physicians originates from medical schools around the country. Topics include cardiology, grand rounds.

I remember this and Lifetime Medical Television -- both featuring programming for physicians and my first exposure to prescription drug ads, back when they were still restricted to the trade. Of course, at the time, TV ads for prescription drugs required very lengthy disclaimers, dosage information and side effects warnings, just like their print counterpart. Physicians TV had a brief segment at the end of the show for these disclaimers, while Lifetime Medical Television had an entire program filled with nothing but disclaimers for drugs featured that week.

As for the Syracuse channels during this time, were they listed with the "local" channels or with the cable channels? I would think that WNEW, WPIX and WSBK are listed in the cable section as "5N", "11N" and "38B", respectively.

Yep, it is New Tech Times. Typo on my part.

He-Man: The TV Guide listed 3S and 18 as He-Man and the Masters of the Universe-Cartoon; 60 min. 5N and 34 weren't-because they were half-hour.

3S, 5N, 5S, 9S, 11N, 24S and 38B were listed in the cable section. I included them in because they were ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, and/or Independents other than WTBS. WOR, which TV Guide called a network, I added because WNEW and WPIX were in there as well. Didn't want Channel 9 left behind! :D

A few things:

Yes, "Hatchy Milatchy" was a local children's show that ran on WNEP for many years.

Speaking of children's shows, specifically airing on "Big 3" stations: I guess somebody had to pick up some of the slack since WSYT in Syracuse had not yet signed on. Ditto for a similar channel in Binghamton...

3/18's "He-Man" hour makes me wonder if "She-Ra" was "bundled" into it, but I don't think that hit the air until a year, if memory serves...

And also noteworthy at this point was that WOLF-38 in Scranton (the market's first independent station) was only about 3 months old at this point. Beginning in early 1984 (and continuing for quite a few years after), WBRE-28 would air kids' shows in the 3-4pm hour - as apparent by this listing. They aired Scooby Doo at 3 and He-Man at 3:30. Later years would bring Dennis the Menace (the cartoon) into the mix. They also didn't clear "Santa Barbara" yet...I seem to remember 38 picking it up for a time but eventually WBRE would be airing it at either 9 or 10am.

On another note regarding this edition.....When did 3S/3 and 18 stop airing everything together?

I do remember seeing listings for KNDO 23 in Yakima airing He-Man in those days [NBC]. I guess with no independent you have to relegate cartoons into the Big 3 network stations.

PS: I also have a TVG from Sep. 1984 on the way, from the LA Metropolitan area. Should be a BIG listing!

You'd think 24 would have opted to air a different episode of "SCTV" given the programmign airing around it? ::)

Oh, and to answer Harrisburg's question, I believe the 3/18 simulcast ended not long after the sale of 18 from Times Mirror to Robert Smith, which took place in 1986.

18 was a fairly robust "satellite" even in the Newhouse/Times Mirror days. While it shared some programming with WSYR-TV/WSTM, WSYE/WETM was doing its own local newscasts from its Elmira transmitter/studio site all the way back to its start in the 1950s. I believe the current downtown Elmira WETM studios were built around 1982, and once they opened the Elmira station was able to function completely independently of Syracuse, even if it was still listed officially as a "satellite" for a while.

It is a great irony indeed that once WETM became part of the Ackerley/Clear Channel/Newport upstate cluster in the late nineties, it ended up once again being run from a Syracuse master control - this time the ABC affiliate on channel 9 that (even more irony) is now known as WSYR-TV!

I see gaps in the listings for some channels such as 25 and 38

And where was the ABC channel 6?

Wheel of Fortune at 11:00 PM? Was that its regular time slot on WNDS or was it pre-empted? Also, no Jeopardy! to go with it?

How I wish WOF didn't move to WBZ where it gets pre-empted every other week for their local Patriots show and other various specials.

11pm was Wheel's regular timeslot on WNDS for a number of years. Ch. 50 also used to air J! as well.
